

Back to Basics Sale

The excitement and excesses of the holiday season is now over and for most individuals, it is back to work and back to basics. In the laboratory, one of the basic tasks is ensuring you have the bread and butter laboratory consumables required on a daily basis. Understanding the need to restock the laboratory following the Christmas break, your laboratory consumables team at Thermo Fisher Scientific has developed this special promotion featuring many of the key items you no doubt will need to order now that you are back on deck.

The items featured are stocked, commonly used everyday consumables and all are available at special promotional pricing. We trust you will find this special promotion beneficial in quickly and cost effectively sourcing the items you require to kick start your work in the laboratory in 2012.
